Limited warranty

Flex Acoustic™ underlay is guaranteed for manufacturing defects for a period of 15 years, from the date of purchase and is limited to the replacement or refund of the product (underlay). This warranty does not cover labor costs associated to any replacement. Return any defective product to the point of purchase for replacement or refund.

Flex Acoustic™ underlay has to be installed in a climate controlled room. Any damage caused by negligence or improper floor maintenance will void this warranty.

* FIIC will vary depending mainly, but not exclusively, on the type of installation, the type of subfloor, the structure of the building and the floor covering used. An acoustical test performed by an acoustician is the only method of determining precisely the FIIC of a specific building and floor.

This warranty will be invalid if the Flex Acoustic™ underlay is exposed to excessive humidity caused for example by (but not exclusively): uncured cement (less than 30 days old), a natural catastrophe (flooding, earthquake, etc.), excess water caused by water pipe burst, any important water spill or any water or moisture exposure caused by similar events. This warranty is only valid to the original purchaser of the product.
